ATLANTA, Aug. 23.—[illegible]

The [illegible] of the 3d [illegible] Wheeler destroyed the Depot at Cleveland and burned the town.

[illegible]

ATLANTA, Aug. 24.—[illegible] between the Sandy [illegible] and abandoned his entire line on the right of the Chattanooga Railroad. Sherman's order of the 20th directing the [illegible] of the raiders was picked up in a deserted camp. These had been skirmishing on our [illegible].

A special dispatch to the Cincinnati "Commercial" dated Nashville, Aug. 18th, says the rebel cavalry attacked Greenville on Monday. During the fight Gen. Steedman was severely wounded and Col. Straight killed.

A dispatch dated Indianapolis, Aug. 18th, [illegible] for the draft approaches. [illegible] people are becoming excited. There is a great demand for substitutes of any and all colors.

[THIRD DISPATCH.]

ATLANTA, August 25.—The enemy retreated from our right and front last night and our forces [illegible] this morning. The enemy's lines from Decatur to Peachtree road are all abandoned, but they are still in our left and centre. The movement is considered a [illegible] on our left and centre.

Some skirmishing on the left this morning.

With the exception of three shells thrown from the right before the enemy withdrew the city has not been shelled for 36 hours.

Two deserters reached our lines yesterday. They claim to have been drafted in Dayton, Ohio, and were never mustered into service. They state that they came through on the railroad from Chattanooga, and heard no news from Wheeler.

Prisoners brought in this morning state that Wheeler [illegible] the road twice; that it was immediately repaired; that trains are running regularly and that Sherman's army is on full rations.

From Richmond.

RICHMOND, Aug. 26.—The Confederate authorities have offered to exchange officer for officer and man for man with the Federal authorities.

Heretofore the contention has been the delivery of the excess of prisoners, our government insisting upon the terms of the cartel, which required the delivery of all prisoners on both sides, the excess to be on parole. The Government now proposes that the excess, if any, remain in the hands of the party [illegible]. The offer, though made early in the month, has not yet been accepted. The correspondence on the subject will shortly appear.

From Mississippi.

[illegible], Aug. 26.—Col. [illegible] fought the enemy in the suburbs of Clinton yesterday and drove them back one mile. The fight was desperate, our men charging gallantly. The enemy [illegible] reinforcements [illegible]. [illegible] force is reported to consist of 6,000 infantry and 20 pieces of artillery. Prisoners [illegible] state that the Yankees [illegible]. Telegraphic communication [illegible] four miles of Clinton.

[illegible] being impressed by the Yankees.

The prisoners captured in Memphis by Forrest have left for Cahaba.

[illegible]

RICHMOND, Aug. 27.—The Washington "Chronicle" of yesterday [illegible] which says this city was attacked at four o'clock this morning by Forrest with 3,000 cavalry. They drove in our pickets and dashed directly [illegible] Washburne, who made a very narrow escape. They then made a rush for [illegible]. They attacked Irving's position, which was repulsed by the guard. They also visited the Gayoso House, expecting to capture Hurlbut, but they did not succeed in getting possession of him. Our troops then [illegible] and drove them from the city, [illegible]. Our loss in killed and wounded [illegible]. Our troops being without [illegible] considerable plunder and captured quite a number of prisoners.

New York telegrams say that [illegible] among the best financial circles that the government desires to send five commissioners to Richmond to arrange preliminaries for peace.

Gold closed at 254 1-2.

The Governor of Ohio has issued a proclamation warning parties preparing to resist the draft to desist from such purpose.

From Mobile.

MOBILE, August 26.—Our flag of truce boat [illegible] from the enemy's fleet yesterday evening. The Yankees say that Fort Morgan was captured at 2 o'clock on Tuesday last. On Monday the fleet opened a fire on the fort, which replied with spirit. On Tuesday the bombardment was renewed. In the meantime the enemy succeeded in getting three monitors into position, and their lines of skirmishers on the face of the fort kept up a heavy fire on our gunners. With the assistance of the [illegible] fleet the enemy succeeded in damaging several gun carriages. Gen. Page, having destroyed everything in the fort and spiked his guns, capitulated. He as well as the garrison of 500 men have been sent to New Orleans. Our loss was 17 killed—number of wounded unknown.

No non-combatants are allowed to visit the city.

The enemy has thrown a force of 6,000 men on the mainland at Grant's Pass, opposite Fort Powell.

From Petersburg.

PETERSBURG, August 26.—The affair on the Weldon railroad Wednesday was a very gallant one and important in its results. While the enemy's cavalry under Gen. [illegible] were engaged tearing up the track, several miles beyond Reams' Gen. Hampton attacked and forced them back behind their infantry supports. Hampton dismounted his men and fought the infantry gallantly, steadily pushing them back until they reached their strong works one mile this side of Reams', capturing about eight hundred prisoners. At five o'clock in the afternoon Gen. Hill attacked the enemy's works, and, after a short but sharp contest [illegible], capturing a large number of prisoners and [illegible] pieces of artillery. The enemy fled in great confusion. [illegible] of Richmond, turned the captured guns upon the enemy with great effect. The number of prisoners will probably reach 2,000. Brig. Gen. Cutler was captured.

Prisoners belonging to Hancock's Corps have been brought in.

Considerable firing down the road to-day.

Our cavalry acted with conspicuous gallantry.

Apology.

On account of circumstances beyond our control we are unable to give our usual quantity of reading matter in this issue and the same difficulties may beset us for several days to come.

Meantime we want two or three good COMPOSITORS, to whom the highest wages will be paid.

AN AMUSING INSTANCE OF FINANCIERING.—A countryman on his way to the city with apples to sell, passed a Female Seminary not more than forty miles off, and offered his apples at two dollars a dozen. A young lady soon struck a bargain with him for one dozen paying him a gold five at its face, receiving three dollars, good currency, back in change. The rest of the young ladies seeing the verdancy of the country gentleman, besieged his cart in solid phalanx and soon relieved him of his apples and good currency by filling his pockets with Mr. Memminger's repudiated five dollar promises to pay. Country gentleman discovered his mistake, however, on arriving in town and finding that he had given his apples to the ladies without even receiving their thanks.

FAITH.—The Editor of the Christian Sun, published at Petersburg, says in his issue of the 19th:

We lie down at night in hearing of the guns of our pickets and in reach of the enemy's shells as much composed and sleep as sweetly as we have ever before been accustomed. We do not believe Grant can ever take Petersburg or Richmond. There is an Almighty arm stretched forth for our protection and deliverance, and we feel safe and secure. We have remained thus far in the besieged city, day and night, and expect to be found here when the siege is raised and the forces of Grant and Butler retire.

AFTER THE DESERTERS.—The Winston Sentinel of Thursday says:

We learn that a deserter by the name of Ballard was killed near Kernersville, in this county, the latter part of last week; and that another, Wm Knott by name, also from this county, was killed near the same place in Guilford the day after Ballard's death. Ballard was shot by a portion of the Senior Reserve Guard force.

Since last Saturday, under orders of Governor Vance, the Home Guard have been engaged in active duty in apprehending deserters, &c. Several have been brought in.

TO OUR FRIENDS AND THE PUBLIC.

PROGRESS OFFICE, RALEIGH, N. C.,
August 22, 1864.

We make an earnest appeal to our friends throughout the State to exert themselves to extend the circulation of the PROGRESS. Hereafter as heretofore it shall be the fearless exponent of Conservative principles and the advocate of Conservative measures, and will hold Civil Liberty and the rights of the citizen above everything else. We shall continue to give a cordial support to all measures, whether originated by the State or Confederate government, that may be necessary to a vigorous prosecution of the war, but we shall at the same time insist that the States, acting through their constituted authorities, and the Confederate States government, acting through its legitimate agents, make constant, earnest, zealous efforts to close the war by negotiation upon terms honorable and satisfactory to all the people of all the States. We are the friends of the Confederate cause and of free government, and as such shall insist on a strict construction of the Constitution, a searching investigation into the official conduct of our rulers, the independence of the Judiciary, freedom of the Press and of speech and the purity and perfect freedom of the ballot box, without which, all our sufferings and sacrifices of blood and treasure, will amount to nothing, as the neck will have to bow to receive the yoke at last. We shall insist on the Military power being kept in subordination to the CIVIL AUTHORITY, and that the struggle be continued with the common enemy of the North for the perpetuation of free government for the people of these States, and not for the establishment of a consolidated despotism.

Because we have refused to bend the knee to the behests of power and blindly approve and applaud all the official acts of State and Confederate authorities, a systematic effort has been made to strike us down and silence us, by the withholding of that patronage to which every paper of respectable circulation has ever been by common consent, entitled, and which no administration, State or national, has ever before withheld; but relying upon the intelligence and liberality of the people and the final triumph of right, truth and justice, we remain undismayed and defiant, and will continue to stand up and contend for the sovereignty of the States, Civil Liberty and the rights of the citizen, be the consequences to us what they may. The bulk of the patronage of the governments, State and Confederate, is given to the partizan presses, regardless of location or circulation; while some of the most widely circulated and influential journals of the country are entirely ignored. We mention these things partly for the purpose of calling attention to systematic favoritism, abuses and corruptions that exist; to show the people how all power and patronage is passing into the hands of a small privileged class; and partly by way of appeal to our friends to make up in increased circulation what we lose by this course of officials—a proscription which is unfair to us and insulting to them.

ARMY INTELLIGENCE.

Now that the elections are over we shall devote most of our space to Army News and Current Intelligence, and trust that our friends in the army and throughout the State will give us such assistance as may be in their power by furnishing us with short news letters from their respective localities. We shall spare neither labor or expense to make the PROGRESS equal to any paper in the Confederacy as a medium for news from the army and elsewhere.

NEGROES FOR SALE.

A SUPERIOR MEAT AND PASTRY COOK, WASHer and Ironer, in the prime of life, with her youngest children—(a boy and two girls,) also a young woman (26 years of age) a good plain cook, washer and ironer, with her child, a female, nearly a year old; also a No. 1 house and lady's maid, in her 14th year. These negroes are all of one family, healthy, light complected, sensible, faithful, well disposed and devoted servants, and has never been abused. They are offered for sale for no fault and only because their owner expects to remove to the eastern part of the State, where it would be unsafe to carry them. To a kind purchaser, for his own use, of the entire family, a bargain and a long credit if desired, would be given, upon two thirds of the purchase money. To such a purchaser, this family would, by their natural increase alone, in a few years be a fine fortune of itself.

BY THE GOVERNOR OF NORTH CAROLINA!

A PROCLAMATION!

WHEREAS, IT IS REPORTED TO ME THAT many soldiers from the troops from this State have deserted their colors and comrades, and are now lurking in the woods and mountains, some of them subsisting by forcing their friends to violate the laws by aiding them and others by violent depredations upon peaceable citizens, entailing shame and obloquy upon themselves and their posterity, outraging the laws and the peace of society, and damaging the cause of their hard pressed country.

And, whereas, Gen. Robt. E. Lee, in General Order No. 54, Aug. 10th, 1864, has promised to deal leniently with all who promptly return to duty, though they may have incurred the penalties of desertion by prolonged absence without authority. Now, therefore, I, Zebulon B Vance, Governor of the State of North Carolina, do issue this my proclamation, urging most earnestly upon all misguided men to wipe out from their once respected names the foul stain of desertion by promptly returning to the post of duty in accordance with said General Order No. 54, promising to all such who voluntarily return or surrender themselves to the proper authorities a full and free pardon or the infliction of the mildest penalties of the military law, except those who have been guilty of capital felonies against the lives and property of the citizens, and this promise shall hold good for thirty days from the date hereof. And I hereby warn all such who refuse to comply with these terms that the utmost power of this State will be exerted to capture them or drive them from the borders of a country whose high honor and spotless renown they disgrace by refusing to defend, and that the extremest penalties of the law will be enforced without exception when caught, as well as against their aiders and abetters in the civil courts. Simultaneously with this proclamation orders will issue to the entire militia of the State to turn out for their arrest, and I hope by timely submission they will spare me the pain of hunting down like guilty felons many brave and misguided men who have served their country well and could do so again. Deserters from other States who hide in our woods and assist in giving our State a bad name, I can do nothing for, but to the erring soldiers of North Carolina I confidently appeal. And I earnestly call on all good citizens to assist me in making this appeal effectual, both by their exertions as militia soldiers and their influence as men, to take pains to seek out all deserters of their acquaintance, put this proclamation in their hands, or in the hands of their relatives and friends, and urge upon them to return to the path of duty, which is also the path of safety and of honor. If every good and loyal citizen would set about to reclaim or capture one deserter by every means in his power, he would succeed and he will have rendered a most valuable and patriotic service to his State and country. Civil Magistrates are also exhorted to be diligent in proceeding against all such as violate the statute against harboring, aiding and abetting deserters, and warning is hereby given that in all cases where either civil magistrates or militia or home guard officers refuse or neglect to faithfully perform their duty in this respect, upon proper evidence submitted to me, the Executive protection extended to them under acts of Congress shall be withdrawn, as I cannot certify that officers civil or military, who refuse to perform their duties are "necessary to the due administration of the laws," which they will not execute.

Given under my hand, and the great seal of the State, at Raleigh, this 24th day of August, 1864.

Z. B. VANCE.

DAILY PROGRESS.
RALEIGH, N. C.
TUESDAY, AUG. 23, 1864.

There are a portion of the press, some of the editors and many of the [illegible] engaged in the pious work of [illegible] extortioners and speculators, and trying to bring down prices and restore confidence in the currency. This is all very well and no poor effort that we can make shall be wanting to help on the good work; but who are the extortioners? and who are the speculators—who responsible for the depreciation of the currency and the extraordinary prices at which everything in the way of necessaries of life is now selling? When the war commenced the majority of the people, the laborers, soldiers and producers, looked on a dollar in Confederate currency as a dollar, supposing that faith was to be kept by all in the event of a final success, which many of us considered certain, and that every cent would be redeemed. The people took it willingly, for a time, but soon the demon of speculation entered the arena, government officers began to bid against each other for articles of food that were abundant in the country, and soon the currency began to depreciate.

Quartermasters and commissaries as early as the summer of 1862, instead of going out themselves or sending trusty agents to buy what was necessary for the army, would appoint one or more agents in every county to buy bacon, flour, &c., and in more than one instance have we known these agents, both commissioned to buy for the same man, bidding against each other.—And so it went on until bacon advanced from 20c to three and four dollars, and flour from $12 to $150 a barrel; and whose fault was it? Who was the great purchaser? Impressing laws were passed and commissioners appointed to arrange a scale of prices, and the government, being the greatest purchaser and largest consumer, might just as well have kept prices at the scale of 1862 as to have suffered them to reach the present fabulous figures; and unless the authorities meant to make a corresponding advance in soldiers' wages, prices should have been kept at the old standard.

Blockade runners, too, have done much to keep up prices, for the prices at which they have sold calicoes and ginghams has had an effect upon articles of prime necessity; and so the wealthy speculator who bought a silk dress for his wife was unconsciously advancing the price of bread on the poor.

And look at the schedule of prices as arranged by the Commissioners for this State. Apple brandy $20 a gallon. Who can be made to believe the currency is worth anything or ever will be, or that the money is ever to be redeemed, if the agents of the government fix the price of apple brandy, of which there is no [illegible] in the country, at $20? The government is the great purchaser, and had its agents been discreet and shrewd prices would have been kept down and confidence in the currency maintained; because, had they fixed certain prices and refused to have gone above them—(promising that they could not buy)—speculation could have been kept down and everything worked much better. The evils of the past, however, cannot be removed, and the only way we see now to improve the currency and reduce prices, is for the government to fix a fair, sensible scale of prices, and then [illegible] what they cannot buy; and be careful to put every man in the army, regardless of age, nationality or citizenship who is caught speculating in provisions.

But who are the speculators? The preachers, magistrates and other [illegible] men who enjoy peculiar privileges and who ought to be the last to speculate in provisions, advance prices and oppress the poor. These are the men, and others like them, that have co-operated with the reckless purchasing agents of the government in destroying the currency and running up prices to a ruinous figure [illegible] regard [illegible] paid to the rights of individuals in the matter of military service, impressments, &c., [illegible] why the [illegible] should be [illegible] the prices paid for [illegible].

Reckless war men, who sell meal at $[illegible] a bushel and everything else they make in proportion, may talk about the worthlessness of the currency, but we know that many of them are buying land, negroes, manufacturing establishments, &c., and getting rich—and thousands of such men want the war to continue, regardless of the terms we could or could not get, because they are so rapidly enriching themselves. Let the government authorities take the bull by the horns, then, and suppress speculation by wholesome reforms and stringent measures. Fix a scale of prices, let them be reasonable and just, and compel everybody to be governed by it; and make speculation in provisions a crime and punish it as such.

This is the course we should like to see pursued and the plan we should like to see adopted, but as speculators are numerous and as many of them hold commissions under the government and thus enjoy peculiar privileges, we are not sanguine of any salutary reforms.

To-morrow we shall publish a Circular from the State Department, in answer to the narrative of Gilmore and Jacques, published on Saturday.—It is signed by J. P. Benjamin and addressed to Hon. James M. Mason, Commissioner to the Continent, &c. This paper professes to give a true version of the interview the two Yankees had with President Davis.

WAR NEWS.

PETERSBURG.

[From the Register of Tuesday.]

The situation in front of Petersburg is unchanged. [illegible] a good deal of picket firing continues on the right, the lines being very close to each other, and the enemy has continued to take an occasional shot at the Yankee breastworks. On Wednesday there was some cannonading all day on the left and centre, and in the afternoon the city was briskly shelled by the enemy's batteries near the river. This was the first regular shelling of any consequence for several weeks. The only damage to property was the partial burning of one small tenement, and the only casualty the killing of a negro in the lower part of the city. The cannonading on the left was kept up, with occasional intermissions, until a late hour of the night.

As we stated yesterday, on the authority of reports brought in by scouts, but a comparatively small length of the track of the Weldon railroad has been torn up. It is believed that the road has not been destroyed as far as Reams' station, and that the rails, instead of being heated and twisted, so as to render them unfit for further use, are being hauled away as fast as they are taken up. The impression also prevails to some extent that the enemy intends to preserve the road intact for his own use, in case of the evacuation of Petersburg and Richmond—an event so far in the future that Grant may as well secure a life lease on his position between Reams' station and Davis' farm, and will it to his heirs and assigns.

The enemy's position on the railroad has not been materially altered, and as he is closely watched by the experienced eyes of skillful generals, and confronted at every point by our troops, he can move no farther without endangering his safety. If any further movement is intended, it will occur in the shape of raids, which have been already foreshadowed by hints in the Yankee newspapers. We are not aware of the future plans of our commanding officers, but feel assured that they will be dictated by good judgment and carried out with success.

Prisoners report that Grant, Meade, and all the prominent Yankee Generals, are with the army south of Petersburg, busily inspecting and noting the advantages of the new position.—Prisoners and deserters are brought in daily.

Nothing of importance occurred on the lines south of Petersburg yesterday; but the indications are that we shall have stirring news from that quarter before many days elapse.

SKIRMISH NEAR CHESTER STATION.

The enemy's line of pickets in front of Chester, on the Richmond and Petersburg railroad, was attacked yesterday morning by Gen. Pickett's command and driven in. Some sixty or seventy prisoners were captured. Our loss was small.

FROM THE VALLEY.

An official dispatch from General Early, at Charlestown, states that he has pressed the enemy back to Harper's Ferry.

We have received some gratifying particulars of the recent engagement near Winchester. The rout of the enemy was complete, equalling, if it did not surpass, the stampede from Kernstown a few weeks since. The enemy had in the fight about eight thousand cavalry, and some four or five thousand infantry, which was the rear guard of their main army, the latter being in full retreat towards the Potomac. After the affair at Front Royal our army pushed on and, coming up with the rear guard at Winchester, were, for a short time, held at bay by their artillery, and suffered some little loss, but nothing could withstand the valor of our troops, and with a yell they charged the enemy, who broke and ran in the wildest confusion.

They were pursued for several miles beyond Winchester, when darkness compelled General Early to call off his men and allow them to rest. The next morning the pursuit was re-commenced, but the enemy had taken advantage of the darkness and gotten too far in advance to be overtaken.

We got about two hundred and fifty prisoners and one piece of artillery, besides a number of horses, and any quantity of small arms, clothing, &c., which the enemy in their fright threw away.

But very few of the enemy were killed or wounded, and our entire casualties did not exceed fifteen.

GEORGIA.

[From the Macon Confederate, 21st.]

THE RAID ON THE MACON AND WESTERN RAILROAD.

From passengers down from Griffin we get some further particulars in regard to the raid on the Macon and Western Railroad. It first appeared at Bear Creek, ten miles the other side of Griffin and immediately commenced destroying the road.

At last accounts the Yankees had been attacked by Jackson's cavalry and a fight was progressing, but none of the particulars were known.

The force is estimated at from twelve hundred to three thousand, the highest number not credited by hardly any one.

We expect this whole raid to be in Camp Oglethorpe in a few days with Gen. Marcus J. Wright as Commander-in-Chief.

Our idea all along has been that Grant was playing a Yankee trick on us—that he pretended to send boat loads of troops off in the day time, but hauled them back in the night. It would not surprise us if he has a stronger force to-day than he has ever had at Petersburg. It was noised abroad that nearly all his troops had left, but lo! suddenly three or four corps spring upon the Weldon road.—Milton Chronicle.

We had no idea Grant was leaving his position before Petersburg and so stated, though we knew we should be denounced as a croaker therefor.—Too many of us speak of the events of the future as we would like to have them, and not as they are likely to occur. Grant has a strong position in front of Petersburg and we do not believe he will abandon it till driven away. If Lee whips him or worries him out, Petersburg and Richmond remain in our hands; if Grant whips Lee they fall. We are sanguine because we know that in Lee, Beauregard and their veteran troops Grant has more than his match. To Gen. Lee and the heroic army of Northern Virginia the people of the Confederacy owe everything.
